

Get Help Paying for High-Speed Internet

Sign up by the end of the year to receive full benefits from a free program

As of December 31, 2021, the Emergency Broadband Benefit (EBB) program will transition to a new program called the Affordable Connectivity Program (ACP). This means there is now a long-term program to help you afford broadband!

If you could use help paying for internet access, sign up for the EBB now. If you enroll by 12/30/21 you will receive the maximum benefit of up to $50/month through 3/1/22 and up to $30/month after that.

To enroll, simply 1) complete an application and get approved and 2) sign up with a company.

Sign up and ask questions:
www.FCC.gov/BroadbandBenefit
EBB Hotline:
(833) 511-0311

Do I qualify for the new ACP program?

In 2022, your household may qualify for the ACP benefit if:

- You receive Women, Infants and Children (WIC) supplemental nutrition benefits.
- You participate in free and reduced school meals or Pell grant programs.
- You receive supplemental social security (SSI), Medicaid, Federal Public Housing Assistance (FPHA), SNAP, or Veterans Pension and Survivor Benefits.
- You met EBB eligibility criteria or qualify for Lifeline benefits.

For more information
and to sign up:

FCC.gov/
BroadbandBenefit
(833) 511-0311

EBB Hotline, 9am-9pm ET, M-Su
Translation available